The Eighth ICSA International Conference: Frontiers of Interdisciplinary and Methodological Statistical Research

Call for Contributed Papers:

The 8th ICSA International Conference will be held at Guangzhou University, China on December 19-22, 2010. Guangzhou University is located in Guangzhou city in Guangdong Province in Southern China. This conference is co-sponsored by the American Statistical Association, the Chinese Association of Applied Statistics, the Chinese Society of Probability and Statistics, the Institute of Mathematical Statistics, and the International Society for Bayesian Analysis (ISBA), and is jointly organized by the College of Mathematics and Information Science, Guangzhou University.

The program committee would like to invite contributed papers from the international statistics community. A submission should include a title, an abstract, and contact information (affiliation, position, email and fax) in English. Priorities will be given to submissions on topics related to the theme of the conference. Submissions should be in pdf files and sent via email by September 1, 2010 to oicsa@icsa2.org with "ICSA 2010 Int Conf Contributed Paper Submission" in the subject line.

Scientific program committee:

Bin Yu (co-chair)

Zhiming Ma (co-chair)

ICSA 2011 Applied Statistics Symposium

The International Chinese Statistical Association (ICSA) invites you to participate in the 20th Applied Statistics Symposium from June 26th to 29th, 2011, in New York City. All the scientific programs and short courses will be held in The Westin New York Hotel at Times Square.

Information is available at <http://www.icsa.org/2011/index.htm>.
